

Two reasons why being in the Albuquerque NEW MEXICO viewing area fails for the Durango COLORADO area:

1. More than once I have had to miss applicable Colorado political debates (Governor, for example) . New Mexico (understandably) doesn't air Colorado political coverage. This deprives me of information I need to be an informed voter and to get timely election results.
2. Our family and business connections are all in Colorado so Denver is where we shop when we go to "the city."

Please correct this silly ruling of having this small corner of one State being associated media-wise with an entirely different State. We intentionally do not shop in Albuquerque as protest. That's probably not what New Mexico advertisers would want to hear or intended.
